DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-31, drawn to a thermoelectric device.

Group II, claim(s) 32-36, drawn to a thermoelectric device.

Group III, claim(s) 37-39, drawn to a thermoelectric device.

Group IV, claim(s) 40-46, drawn to a thermoelectric device.

Group V, claim(s) 47-50, drawn to a method for cooling an object.

Group VI, claim(s) 51-55, drawn to a method for thermoelectric power conversion.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I, II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature between the groups is at least on unipolar couple element. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art. US 2003/0209014 A1 to Chang et al. teaches such a unipolar couple element (fig. 3 and [0008]).

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

- Species A (claims 2, 16, 19, 20, 23-25, 33 and 38), which is directed to establishing a temperature differential, and
- Species B (claims 3, 34, 39 and 40-46), which is directed to generating electrical potential and an electrical current.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Species A (claims 2, 16, 19, 20, 23-25, 33 and 38), which is directed to establishing a temperature differential, and Species B (claims 3, 34, 39 and 40-46), which is directed to generating electrical potential and an electrical current

The following claim(s) are generic: claims 1, 32, 37 and 40.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: the common technical feature between the species is at least on unipolar couple element. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art. US 2003/0209014 A1 to Chang et al. teaches such a unipolar couple element (fig. 3 and [0008]).

6. Due to the complexity of the restriction requirement, a telephone was not made to request oral election to above restriction requirement.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.
